

Super Bowl

Sunday, February 7, 2016
Levi's Stadium, San Francisco, CA

This February, you don't want to miss the monumental 50th Super Bowl. It's already one of the most exciting and highly anticipated events in sports, but this year it is more than the greatest day in football. With the Bay Area setting up an entire "Super Bowl City," the experience is truly a celebration of the Super Bowl 50 milestone. In addition to the unique qualities of the Super Bowl 50 host city, the game will be held in the Levi's Stadium in Santa Clara, the greenest and most technologically advanced NFL football stadium in the U.S., fully equipped with thousands of TVs around the stadium, Wi-Fi boxes under every 100 seats, a custom Levi's Stadium mobile app, and high definition video boards above both end zones that show instant replays and even fantasy football updates. Levi's Stadium is also loaded with gourmet food made from ingredients bought from local suppliers.

Walker Sports Marketing, Inc. can not only hook you up with hard to find Super Bowl 50 tickets, but we can provide you with top accommodations in San Francisco, near the exciting Fisherman's Wharf, or in the luxurious Napa Valley. All of our Super Bowl packages come with a Super Bowl Sunday Pre-Game tailgate brunch, which will be across from the stadium and will provide guests with gourmet food, open bars, and live music. If you're looking for A-List party access, we've got you covered for that as well. Once the lists of official parties are released closer to the time of the Super Bowl, we will be able to provide you with more information on parties and prices.

Walker Sports Marketing can customize any experience to include everything you want so don't hesitate to contact us if you have any questions or concerns.
